1. There is a new book out called FRONTIER HENDRICKS Vol 1 and Vol. 2 in manuscript form. This is of interest to all HENDRICKS researchers as it surveys Hendricks data up until about 1800 for Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, some New Jersey, some Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee and some Georgia. It shows our Moses HENDRICKS m. Susannah GLENN, David HENDRICKS m. 1st Sarah MAJOR and Henry HENDRICKS m. Nancy MAJOR as possible descendant of one Albertus HENDERICKSON of Pennsylvania. It has many associated families date. This is a marvelous piece of work by Dr. John Scott Davenport of Holmdel, NJ.

2. If the membership would like to exchange information via e-mail, I am willing to collect the e-mail addresses and also fax addresses and forward to Linda Cheek for publication. My e-mail is hendherb@visi.net. Incidentally if you are interested there are many genealogical exchanges and networks on e-mail. There is a NC/SC-ROOTS exchange. You can join by e-mail at MAISER@rmgate.pop.indiana.edu. Put no subject in heading. Drop down to body of message and put SUB NC/SC-ROOTS and below it put your name. If you have any problems let me know by e-mail. You must follow capitals as shown and format as described. There are also other state nets and a listing for joining other family nets.

Incidentally the Virginia Archives is moving into its new building (about two blocks from its present location) beginning this summer. Only the reading and microfilm rooms will be open up through August.

The Conservation Lab at the Department of Archives and History is open by appointment Monday to Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Call (803) 734-8579 to set up a consultation with a document conservator.

Document conservator Uju Emenike removes discolored tape from an old map. The Archives and History Conservation Lab has many techniques for repairing and preserving important documents.

Conservation begins at home

Here are some inexpensive, do-it-yourself steps you can practice at home to help prolong the life of your old papers, books or photographs.

Do not repair your documents with tape or glue.

Most glues and all pressure-sensitive tapes are highly acidic—that is why you see brown stains on paper where tape has been applied.

Store documents flat when you can, but don't flatten tightly-curled or folded paper with force.

Fibers can break, weakening the paper. Let a trained technician open the document for you.

Keep documents away from sunlight or fluorescent light.

The darker your storage area, the better. Visible light will damage your documents; ultraviolet light will destroy them.

Do not use rubber bands, metal paper clips, straight pins or staples to bind documents together.

Rubber can harden and damage or stain the paper. Metal fasteners can rust and cause damage. Do not use wooden or ordinary cardboard boxes to store your valuable photographs and documents.

Containers like these are highly acidic, and the acid can migrate from box to documents. Store these valuables in special acid-free boxes or rust-proof metal containers.

Do not store precious photographs in scrapbooks that use plastic cover pages and sticky adhesive backboards.

These are deadly for your photos. You can obtain archivally-sound photo albums from some suppliers.

Do not store photographic negatives or slides in commonly-used plastic sheets.

These are often unstable, and can decompose within a few years.

When they do, the emulsion that forms the image can be destroyed.

Control temperature and humidity in storage areas.

Documents survive best when kept at a consistent temperature, preferably around 70 degrees at 50 percent relative humidity.

Warmer temperatures and higher humidity can allow mold to grow, which will destroy paper. Attics and basements are rarely suitable for storing documents and photographs.

Dear Doris:

As a past active member of the OLD PENDLETON DISTRICT SCGA, may I say you young members are doing a wonderful job with the NEWSLETTER. I am trying to share mine with other former members here in this and the Westminster area. I was so thrilled to see in this month's Quarterly the listing of my letters from my Great-Grandfather, Samuel Messer Crawford. However, I do have some small corrections to please make if you have space some time. The names are spelled differently in my family, but I do believe they are one and the same families. I will go ahead and try to type as you or the printers have already typed except the change in names.

Collection of original letters from Samuel Messer Crawford to his wife Mahala Jolly Crawford in Pickens District, SC during the War Between the states. These letters were given to Bess Bowen, long time member of this Chapter, from Oakway Community, by Marett Glymph and his sisters, Louise, Rebecca and Miriam. They received them from their mother, Bernice Marett Glymph and her mother Sudie Crawford Marett, wife of Thomas Marett. Samuel Crawford was b. 15 July 1824 and died 17 March 1910. He was a member of Co. K 22nd SC Infantry. With Mrs. Mary W. Hull's donation of letters this makes a total of seventy-five letters written to wife, family, and father. All letters are printed in "RECOLLECTIONS and REMINISCENCES" by South Carolina Division United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Hope this is readable for you. Keep up the good work you are doing.

Sincerely,

Bess Bowen (Mrs. Henry R)

PRESS RELEASE

AUGUST 5, 1996

WHITE COUNTY STANDRIDGE REUNION

On Friday, October 17, 1996, hundreds of Standridge descendants and their guests from all across the United States will come together in the northeast GA town of Cleveland in White County for a weekend of activities connected with the Biannual National Standridge Family Reunion. Most of those attending will be direct descendants of either Samuel Standridge, Sr., a White County pioneer, whose family settled in the Shoal Creek Community in the southwest corner of the county about 1825, Alexander Standridge, who settled in what is now Stephens County, GA about 1802, or James Standridge II, whose family came to Oconee County, SC about 1783. However, anyone with a Standridge ancestor or an interested in Standridge family history is welcome. This will be group's 5th National Reunion. In 1994 the reunion met in Mena, AR. Cleveland, GA was chosen as the site for this year's meeting because of the family's close ties to White County and its history. The fellowship hall of Cleveland's First Baptist Church will be the meeting place for most of the Reunion's activities. James Standridge, the oldest son of Samuel Standridge Sr., who migrated to Arkansas in about 1855, and his family were among the very first members of this church.

A sample of the activities planned for the reunion include: a Friday trip across the Tougloog River into Oconee County in an attempt to locate the birth place of Samuel Standridge and the burial place of his father, James, who died in the 1830s and a Friday Night get-to-gather for our of town guests and their local Standridge cousins. A full day of activities is slated for Saturday, beginning with a lecture on the "how tos" of genealogical and family history research by Russell P. Baker, president of the Standridge National Family Reunion, and a nationally known genealogical author, teacher, and lecturer. The meeting begins at 9:00 a. m. in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church. Interested members of the general public are invited to attend this free lecture if they so wish. Mr. Baker's presentation will be followed by several discussions on the current status of Standridge Family genealogical research across the U. S. Among those speaking will be Ms Frances Jones, author of the soon to be released Standridge Family History. On Saturday afternoon reunion attendees will make a pilgrimage to the Shoal Creek Community southwest of Cleveland to visit Standridge graves in the local cemetery and family home sites. A tour of the area's old Bowen Cemetery and Bowen Cabin is also planned. The reunion will climax with a major convening of Standridge researchers and descendents on Saturday night in Cleveland's Baptist Church for a banquet, featuring music, guest speakers, door prizes, etc. For more information on this event contact W. S. "Bud" Standridge, 6820 Old Cleveland Road, Clermont, GA 30527 or ~~Will H. "Bill" Roper~~, P. O. Box 524, Cornelia, GA 30531. This organization is also
