Tariff article on front page.

Whilst the proprietor of the Habersham gold mines was one day overseeing his Negroes, he thought they lost too much time in scratching their heads; and the weather being warm, and their hair long, he humanly had them close-shaved. On shaking out the wool, after this operation was performed, he was no less surprised than delighted at finding several ounces of pure gold amongst it, which they secreted there while at work. Copied from Macon, GA Telegraph.

Comment on Garden's book called Anecdotes of the Revolution and LaFayette. Talking about Lafayette and his exploits, the editors writes, "One of the actors and sufferers in that daring adventure is now an estimable citizen of our district, and the other, Dr. Bolman, died a few years since in the service either of the Colombian, or Mexican Republic."

Great hopes are entertained that a majority of the Chiefs will consent to the removal of the balance of the nation the ensuing year."

It is believed, that one of the objects of the President's visit to the Hermitage, is an interview with the Cherokee Chiefs. If any man can dispose of the Indians to a peaceable and voluntary emigration, that man is General Jackson—he has more influence with them than anyone living. We wish him full success. It will be the best for all parties concerned. The Indians themselves will reap the great benefit. This subject requires no elucidation. It is plain enough already. Georgia Courier.

Colonization Society is being supported by 12 states. This Society, to be supported by the Federal Government, to be established on the coast of Africa [Liberia].

On Sunday morning the 25th ult. near this place, the Rev. Henry Gains, in the 94th year of his age, died. He was born in King & Queen Co., VA and removed to this State when about 60 years old. He resided a few years in Newberry and Abbeville, but has been for about twenty years a resident of this neighborhood. He was a pious and exemplary member of the Methodist church, and for more than 50 years a preacher of the Gospel of Christ. His children, thirteen in number, and the number of his descendants though not precisely known, must be very large. He was married three times. His first wife, the mother of his children, lived to see them all married. The last two he married in his old age, but survived them both. Mr. Gains was remarkable for his quiet, peaceable, and Christian like disposition; and it is a singular fact that during his long life, and intercourse with the world, he never sued a single person, and was only once sued. In every neighborhood where he lived, he enjoyed the esteem of all around him, and died in the comfortable assurance of a happiness without end, beyond the grave.

Requesting Information

Sandy (cgoslo@earthlink.net) searching for information about the June issue of the Old Pendleton Newsletter. On p. 11, there is a family chart for Daniel Moore and Nancy Whitmire. I think I have the history of the son Reuben Moore b. 1835. I have his children, who he married, who they married and so forth. Here is just a little of what I have: Reuben m. Martha Jane Rodgers, and died at the Battle of Chickamauga. They had 3 Moore children and then she married my gg grandfather Abner Coffey who was 25 years her senior, and her parents next-door neighbor, and he gave her three more children before he died in 1876 or so. Several years ago, I was contacted by a descendant of this family living in TX. Elizabeth Florence Coffey or Coffee b. Dec. 22, 1869, m. Robert Marlin Taylor in Alvarado, TX. If any descendants of Daniel Moore want this information, please have them email me.

The jury brought it out that Elizabeth Clayton came to her death in her kitchen by the fall of a certain chimney made of wood and dirt which struck her on the head and her skull in one place broke her head in two other places mortally cut and knocked into the fire from which she recd. mortal burns with the aforesaid strokes caused her untimely death.

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 3. An inquest was taken near Peters Creek Meeting House in 7 Jan 1838 on the dead body of Moses Lesly then and there lying dead in the woods. The jury brought it out, that not having God before his eyes but moving and seduced by the instigation of the devil did in the woods near the said decd. house, shoot himself thru the head with his own rifle gun, supposed by holding the luffle [muzzle] of the gun to his forehead with one hand and throwing the trigger with a forked stick which he held in his other hand with both stick and gun lying on his body when found.

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 4. An inquest was held 20 May 1829 at the Widow Smiths on the dead body of Absolem Martin there lying dead. The jury brought it out that he came to his death by violence that he was struck with some weapon which broke his skull in two places and other wounds on his head which was the cause of his death.

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 5. An inquest was taken at the dwelling house of John Rankins in Pickens Dist. 20 Feb 1850 on the dead body of Nathaniel Rankin. The jury brought it out that on the evening of the 19 Feb 1850 the said Nathaniel Rankin took a shot gun from the dwelling house of John Rankin situated on Little River in Pickens Dist. proceeded to the corn crib of the said Rankin about 50 yards from the dwelling house, and then by the means of a twig of a small tree and thru the guard of the said gun drew the trigger having first placed the muzzle of gun to the right side of his head and in that position fired the same. . . .

James Eaton sworn says, that on the evening of the 19th inst. the sun about 2 or 3 hours high, he left the decd. in the door of his dwelling house. I told him to shut the door and lie down, that I was going to work. He said he would. I left him and went to my work about 200 yards off. After being at work about an hour, I heard the report of a gun, which he supposed to be at the Falls. About an hour after hearing the gun, I came back to the house, missing the decd. I made a search for him and soon found him lying dead. I found that he had not been moved, that the gun and all things remains he found there except a few fragments of the skull and brains which were picked up and laid near the body. Does not think that the mind of the decd. was as good as it had been many years ago. I immediately went to Hiram Kelly who had been at work with me, told him of the decd. and asked him to go and tell his mother. (In one place written James Eaton and another James Heaton.)

Ann Calhoun states that her son Hiram came and told her of Nathaniel Rankin's death. Saw the decd. yesterday after breakfast, shook hands with him, he seemed more active and more at himself than when she saw him about 2 weeks ago. Decd. was a nephew. He did not know me yesterday or when she first saw him, have been gone away a long time, had not seen him except the time before stated since he left this country. I made my self known to him, he said that he did not know her, don't know how he came to his death. . . .

Silas K. Calhoun states he had been with decd. a good deal lately, seemed to be as much at himself as usual.

John Rankin states that the decd. returned to his country some time before Christmas, had been away from it twenty odd years. I brought him back to this country. After his return, the decd. seemed to be low spirited lately. Talked more than when he first returned. I brought him back to this country to take care of him. He had no property; he was between 60 and 65 years old. . . .

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 6. An inquest was held at Toxaway Bridge 1 Oct 1838 on view of the bodies of three persons, one a man supposed to be 45 years, and a girl supposed to be 15 years, and a boy 13 years of age. The jury brought it out that they were murdered by a Negro who was in company with them with an ax on the night of 30 Sept. No names given. . . .

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 7. An inquest was held at Mrs. Martha Lawrence 1 Oct 1846 on view of the dead body of Jack a slave belonging to her. The jury brought it out that he came to his death by violence inflicted by the hands of a slave Willis also the property of Mrs. Martha Lawrence. That the slave Willis did slay Jack by striking him on the left side of his head with an oaken stick weighing about three pounds, about two feet nine inches long and about 8 inches in circumference, thereby fracturing the skull on the right and left side of the head. . . .

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 8. An inquest was held 16 Feb 1833 on the dead body of Berry Benson Lesley of Pickens Dist. The jury brought it out that he came to his death at his house. The said Lesley being a lad of about 11 years of ago and being left alone in the house on the evening of the 14th inst. and whiskey being in the house, and within the command of said boy, and he not having sufficient prudence or command over himself, did drink the said whiskey until he became intoxicated and in that situation fell out of the door on a cold rainy night, which we believe occasioned his death. . . .

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 9. An inquest was held 8 Aug 1834 on the dead body of Lawrence Symmes of Pickens Dist. The jury brought it out that he came to his death on the evening of the 5th inst. by being struck with lightning under the providence of God. The body having lain so long before found, rendered it unnecessary for clean examination, the body being found lying against a tree apparently struck with lightening at that time, and a part of his clothing forced into the tree where the lightening struck. . . .

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 10. An inquest was held 3 Feb 1833 on the dead body of Levy Young. The jury brought it out that he came to his death from exposure & perhaps an excess of intoxication from the use of illiterate (sic) spirits and a fall from his horse.

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 11. An inquest was held 13 Mar 1854 on the dead body of Henry Henson of Rabun Co., GA then and there on said Callas Mountain. The jury brought it out that he came to his death by voluntary intoxication and while drunk falling from his horse into a small rivulet which wet him very much and then rolling the distance of 25 or 30 steps down the muddy road. This with the cold atmosphere of the night of the 12th inst. extinguished his life. He was 65 years of age. Inquest was held in Pickens Dist.

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 12. An inquest was held at the house of James Daw decd. late a tenant on Lewis Eaton's land on the west side of Little River, one mile and ¼ below the High Fall on said river in Pickens Dist. on 13 Jun 1855. The jury brought it out that he came to his death by hanging himself with a rope to the eave bar of his dwelling house at his residence on Little River below the High Falls, sometime between the hours of 3 o'clock on Tuesday the 12th inst. and 12 o'clock on Wednesday the 13th inst.

E.B.H. Gibson sworn says that the decd. had been working at house yesterday. Thinks about 2 hours and half by the sun. Seemed to work with more diligence yesterday than common. Complained of being sick. Head decd. say that if his wife Nancy did not do better than she had been doing he intended to put himself where she would not see him any more. Thinks decd. was a weak minded man. Heard him say that his life had been threatened by Mr. Hollis the old man. Hollis was not drinking when he said that he threatened his life. His objections to his wife's conduct seemed to be because she was often from home and would not make him clothes. Yesterday he said that Hollis would always be abusing him when he was drinking but was good to him when sober.

Alexander Bryce Jr. sworn says he heard the alarm about 12 o'clock this day by Mrs. Nancy Daw wife of the decd. Was down on Little River when the alarm was given. Thought Mrs. Daw was near the house when she made the alarm. I runned to Mr. Crenshaws to learn what caused the alarm. Saw Mrs. Daw near Crenshaw's house. She said that Jim had hung himself. Wanted me to go with her to see. I first refused, then I said I would go after some body, did not want to go by myself. Mrs. Daw said that when she first came into sight, she thought the deed, was looking at the sun. She came a little closer and found that he had hung himself. I came in sight of the deed, and saw him handing. Mrs. Daw was with me, she had been crying when she saw the deed, hanging, cried vehemently and slapped her hands, approaching the dead body. I stopped her, told her I would go after some body, but head some one near by. Waited and saw it was Mrs. Daw's brother E. Hollis who said to Mrs. Daw come on, I am not afraid. After coming nearer Mrs. Daw said to me don't let E. Hollis go to the decd. as she thought he was drinking. E. Hollis came to me and said that he thought the decd. had one of them spells. Saw him standing out there and thought Mrs. Daw was afraid deed, would hurt her. I was informed that he subject to fits. Soon after E. Hollis came up, Moses Hollis his father came up to. Saw deed, hanging and said it was awful. Seemed to be very much affected, was trembling. Mrs. Daw seemed greatly troubled and said she had no body to take care of her. E. Hollis said yes you have. If James Daw has hung himself, you cannot help it. E. Hollis was her brother....

Moses Hollis sworn says, that Mrs. Daw the wife of decd. stayed at my house last night. Left there some time after breakfast. Heard nothing of the death of James Daw till he came to the house of decd. Came because he heard some one hollowing as if in great distress. Took it to be Nancy my daughter, the wife of said decd. I live about three fourths of a mile from the house of the decd. in a strait course, has often heard people hollow from the house of decd. to his house.

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 13. An inquest was held in the death of Alexander Kuhtman in Pickens Dist. The jury brought it out that he came to his death by shooting himself with a pistol discharged by his own hand at his own house near A. Ivester's on the morning of the 5th of April 1856. . . .

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 14. An inquest was held at Elam Sharps Mill on the waters of Tomassee Creek in Pickens Dist. on the 12th Oct 1853 on the dead body of Mary McDanniel being dead in said mill. The jury brought it out that she came to her death by accident by the act of God by being caught between the log wheel and turned? head of said mill and was crushed to death. . . .

Inquest. Pack 139. No. 15. An inquest was held 12 Jan 1851 on the dead body of Sarah Moss at the house of Alfred Moss near the Station. Elihu Moss says, he saw his mother Sarah Moss on Saturday morning last, she was then well, was not subject to any sudden attacks. Saw her last night. The family was not present when the body was first discovered. Miles Moss said that one of the little children cried to come out, kept calling for its mother, then the baby cried. Mr. Moss then called for his wife she did not answer, continued to call, at length he said surely she must be dead and ordered a light to be brought, the light was carried and Sarah Moss was found dead. Alfred Moss the husband of the decd. was in bed with his wife. About an hour before he heard his father talking, did not hear his mother speak, his mother did not complain when she went to bed. Father had been drinking. No harsh words were passed between mother and father during the evening. Went to bed at the usual hour. Was not awake during the night. Do not think any violence was done to her, was not subject to fits, she was a healthy woman.

Cresswell Moss said that he was here last night. His mother was well. All went to bed at the usual hour. Heard the child Eliza cry in the night then Lotty. Miles took the child Elisa and carried her out. Lotty cried and called her mother. The baby kept saying she wanted to suck. Alfred Moss then called his wife and ordered his son Wilson to make a light. Turned over to his wife and said she was dead.

Mary Todd said that she has examined the body particularly. It is very much marked, does not know whether it is from the settling of the blood or not, marked on the left side in clear and dark spots, don't know whether it is bruises or not. Also marked on the back, like them on the side only smaller. Also a mark on the left cheek, looks like it had been a strike by something and not long inflicted, not more than a few days. I came to the place last night about 3 o'clock, saw nothing when she came to arouse suspicions. Reports says that Moss was not a kind husband, heard Moss tell about whipping his wife. Moss said today that he knocked his wife with a chair about Christmas.

WILLIAM KING EASLEY

Mrs. H. D. Earl (Lila Easley), Greenville, S.C., Granddaughter of William King Easley

The first member of the Easley family to come to the state of South Carolina was Robert with his wife Mary Allen, who moved to the state from Virginia. The exact date of their arrival is not known but in 1786, they bought a tract of land of 100 acres, extending along George's Creek to the Saluda River. Here they made their home and this land remained the Easley Homestead through several generations. One of Robert's sons was John Allen whose wife was Elizabeth King. They occupied the family home, which had been named River Side. There were six children in their family. The second son was William King, who was born January 28, 1825.

The children attended private schools, the first of which was taught by Mr. Charles McGregor of Charleston. This school was known as the "New Hope Infant School" and was located about one mile from River Side. In describing the school in later years, William King Easley said that his brother became initiated in the rudiments of spelling and arithmetic, that he was initiated in the mysteries of juvenile mischief, and became an expert climber of trees for birds' nests and was not a mean hand at marbles. In his youth, William King Easley developed a great love for literature. He had a wonderful memory and it was said that when a boy of sixteen, he memorized the fifteenth chapter of Exodus in fifteen minutes. He was a student of science and history as well as law and was considered a fine classical scholar, although he was not a graduate of any college. He was admitted to the bar when quite a young man.

He went to New Orleans for the purpose of practicing his profession. When yellow fever became an epidemic in the city, he returned to South Carolina and opened an office in the Pickens County Court House. After a few years, he moved his office to Greenville but retained his home in Pickens County. He was elected to the state Legislature from Pickens County. He was instrumental in helping to organize the State Militia and was made the first Adjutant General of the State. From that time, he was known as General Easley.

William King Easley was one of the signers of the Ordinance of Secession and his name with that of R. E. Thompson of Walhalla is inscribed with the names of the other signers, on the walls of the State House at Columbia. When the war came on he raised a company of cavalry in Pickens and Greenville Counties and was received into the Confederate Army at Charleston, with the commission of major. After serving a short time, he was forced to resign his commission because of typhoid fever and he returned to his home.

In 1865 he again was elected to the State Legislature and took a very active part in the affairs of the state. In 1869 or 1879, he represented Pickens County in the State Senate. The Legislature of the State chartered and franchised the building of the Charlotte and Atlanta railroad, giving the counties the right of bond themselves to help build the road. This charter was in the form of a bill and passed the lower house of Representatives and went to the Senate. It appeared on the face of it that the railroad would be built from Charlotte through Spartanburg, Greenville, Anderson, Athens and on to Atlanta.

Senator Easley got the Senator from Anderson to agree to something like the following: as an amendment to the charter; "Provide that the said railroad shall be constructed or built north of the headwaters of Eighteen-Mile Creek." This provision made it impossible for the road to be built further south than it is. Eighteen-Mile Creek starts from a spring in the city limits of the town of Easley. For this work of getting the road through this section, the people of the little town that sprang up there named it Easley.

General Easley married Caroline Sloan of Pendleton, South Carolina. There were nine children in the family. The oldest was John Allen Easley of Greenville. Their summers were spent at River Side but during the winter they lived at Greenville General Easley was never a strong man and during the latter years of his life his health became very poor, having been impaired by long hours of study. His custom was to remain in this office till late hours.

He died in 1872 after a few days of illness in the city of Atlanta, where he had gone on business for the railroad. His wife died a few months earlier, leaving eight children, the oldest of whom was then a lad of seventeen. (At this time his younger brother Samuel Allen Easley, moved from South Carolina to Texas, taking with him several of his brother's orphaned children.)

Although General Easley was only forty-seven at the time of his death, he had a reputation as an orator, many of his speeches being on political subjects of the time. He was also an artist and a musician, his favorite musical instrument being the violin. Among his private writings were many of his speeches, also interesting accounts of the family's early life in the State. He talked much of his childhood in Pickens County. He also wrote beautiful descriptions of the mountains, forests and hunting in the country.

His untimely death was mourned by his many friends, one of whom was S. S. Crittendon, who wrote of him, "Endowed by nature with rare gifts of mind and oratory which he cultivated with the ardor of a student and inspired by noble ambition, he quickly rose to the top of his profession. Possessed also of noble and generous principals, he had the faculty more than anyone the writer had ever known, of attaching to himself, by hooks of steel, the friends with whom he associated."
