UN-MARKED GRAVES and CEMETERIES OF
OLD PENDLETON DISTRICT SOUTH CAROLINA
Compiled by: Linda Gale Smith Cheek

The purpose of the "Un-Marked Graves of Old Pendleton District, SC" is to compile on record for future generations and the preservation of the places of burial of our ancestors and old cemeteries that have been found by different individuals. Some of the old cemeteries are now in bad shape and the stones are almost illegible and let us not forget that many have been destroyed. There are many people who know where their ancestors are buried with no stone or marker. This record will help to preserve the resting place of our ancestors.

(Submitted by) The list of names will appear in the Submitter's Index.

(Additional) Means material added that was found, either by research or by individuals.

HENDRICKS-GLENN CEMETERY

(Phyllis Harrison)

A cemetery was located on Hwy 288 between Pumpkintown and the Saluda River on property owned by Mr. Zupan in the 1980's. Out in one of his pastures a bulldozer was used to remove an overgrown patch of bushes, trees and briars. Under this was the cemetery that was known to be the burial site of William Glenn b. 1755 d. 20 Sept 1814 Pendleton District, (Pickens) SC and Moses Hendricks b. 25 Jan 1823 d. 17 Oct 1855 Pickens District, SC.

These two were the only readable markers located in this cemetery. The other graves were all marked with field rock. Among others known buried at this cemetery were Moses Hendricks b. 1760 d. 1837 Pickens District, SC and his wife Susannah Glenn Hendricks. This property is three miles east in the forks of the Saluda and Oolenoy Rivers where Moses Hendricks (1760-1837) first settled when he came into the area. In 1984 one of the Greenville Chapters of DAR obtained and erected a government marker to Moses Hendricks 1760-1837 at Oolenoy Baptist Church where Moses and Susannah were members. This information is from the files of Mary H. Copeland of Greenwood, SC and the late Lucille Freeman Jones, two long time Hendricks researchers. I was present at the dedication of the replacement marker at Oolenoy Church 11 Nov 1984.

ADDITIONAL:

Moses Hendricks b. 1823 d. 1855 m. 11 Jan 1844 Pickens District, SC Rachel G. Roper b. 21 Sept 1828 Pickens District SC d. 21 Jan 1890 Pickens Co., SC. This Moses was s/o Moses Hendricks Jr. b. 1793 d. 1847 Pickens District, SC m. Hannah Trout. This Moses Jr., 1793-1847, was s/o Moses and Susannah "Susan" Glenn Hendricks.

LESLEY CEMETERY

(Frances Lesley)

Enclosed is a copy of a photo we made in March 1993 of a walnut tree near 23 Mile Creek, Easley, SC. This is believed to be the site of the Lesley Family residence. It is located on or near Zion Heights Circle and Zion Church Road and is near the site of Zion Methodist Church. Near this location is an old family cemetery marked as I have been told with field rocks. Those buried in this cemetery, as far as we can determine:

John Lesley Sr. b. Ca 1775 Fairfield District, SC d. 1860-1870 Pickens District, SC.

Elizabeth Wood Lesley b. Ca 1770 d. Before 1850 w/o John Lesley Sr.

Joshua Anderson Martin Lesley b. Ca 1797 Fairfield District, SC d. 15 Jan 1878, Pickens Co., SC.

Susan Marie Waddell Lesley b. Ca 1805 Pendleton District (Anderson) SC d. 12 June 1887 Pickens Co., SC. W/o Joshua A.M. Lesley.

The next generation of these families are buried in Zion Methodist Church Cemetery. However some of our unknowns are probably buried in the Old Cemetery. One of the first graves at the Zion Church is that of my husband, Edwards, grandfather, James A. Lesley who was Coroner of Pickens County at the time of his death, 6 December 1887 of pneumonia. See Picture.

MAULDIN CEMETERY

(Lowry Wilson)

While talking (30 Dec 1999) to Mrs. Florence Jones Ellison Black who is about 94 years old, she related a story about two individuals stopping by Mr. Ellison and her home in 1929 searching for their relative's graves in what was called the MAULDIN CEMETERY. Mr. Ellison stopped plowing and walked with them to the graveyard located at the head of a gully that is now in or near Harrogate Subdivision. The field rock tombstones have long since been plowed over and no longer exist.

Old Pendleton District

The Jocassee Valley was within the Cherokee Territory of the South until the Treaty of DeWits' Corner in 1777. Following that treaty, most of the remaining Cherokee land in South Carolina, excepting a strip in the mountainous areas of present-day Oconee County and a small part of present-day Pickens County, was relinquished. The line marking the southeastern boundary of the mountainous strip reserved to the Cherokee was surveyed in the winter of the 1777/1778. It was confirmed as being a boundary between the Cherokee and the United State of American in The Holston Treaty of July 2, 1791. A portion of the Jocassee Valley was northwest of this line.

The area of Jocassee southeast of the junction of Whitewater and Toxaway rivers was tied to South Carolina following the treaty and survey of the late 1770s; a discussion is first offered for the records of this segment of the valley. Following the Revolutionary War, the lower part of the valley was attached for legal purposes to the Abbeville region and records (including wills, deeds, and bonds as well as court cases) were maintained at Abbeville. In 1789, Pendleton County (subsequently called Pendleton District) was created. Wills, deeds and bonds and magistrate court records relating to the Jocassee Valley were maintained at Pendleton. (These papers are now part of the Anderson County legal records). At the time Pendleton County was created, the South Carolina legislature was unwilling to pay for a Court of Common Pleas and General Sessions for both Pendleton and Greenville counties. Thus, they set up a court to serve both counties. This court, held only a few times a year, was at a place called Pickensville (now part of Easley, SC). No wills, deeds, or bonds were ever recorded there; it was merely a seat of the Court of Common Pleas and General Sessions. Within only a few years, residents of the two counties were expressing displeasure at having to travel so far to the state court. In 1799, the legislature allowed enough money for a Court of Common Pleas and General Sessions to be held at both Pendleton and Greenville. The legal offices and related structures at Pickensville were abandoned. Fortunately for researchers, the proceedings of the court of General Sessions for its short time of existence at Pickensville are published. See Anne K. McCuen, James E. Kirkman and Peneolope Forrest, Abstracts of the General Sessions Court Case Rolls: Washington District South Carolina 1792-1799/Greenville County South Carolina 1787-1799.

EXCEPTION: the initial land grants for unclaimed property in the Jocassee Valley would have been made by the State of South Carolina until the early 1800s when that function was assumed by the Commissioners of Location in specific counties/districts. State issued land grants are part of the records maintained by the South Carolina Department of Archives and History. Commissioner of Location grants for Jocassee Valley property would be part of the Anderson County records up to 1827, part of Pickens County records up to the late 1800s or part of the Oconee County records from 1828 to 1867/1868, and part of either the Oconee or Pickens records up to the late 1800s.

[Anderson District Records to 1827/1828.]

[Pickens District Records to 1867-1868 (Present-day Pickens and Oconee Counties)]

[Oconee County Records 1868 to present] (Material in brackets written by Anne Sheriff)

The area northwest of the junction of Whitewater and Toxaway rivers and Camp Jocassee (part of a larger area in 2003 that makes up much of the mountainous region of Oconee County and a small part of Pickens County) was retained by the Cherokee until relinquished to the state of South Carolina through the Treaty at Washington of March 22, 1816. In the survey of 1817, it was noted, as part of the exchange, that a 640 acre tract had been reserved by the Cherokee for a Samuel Martin on the "Keowee River." Martin's tract may have been in the upper portion of the Jocassee Valley. He was possibly part Cherokee, or his wife may have been Cherokee. If Martin resided in the upper portion of the valley, he is perhaps among the earliest known white, or part-white, residents in that area.

Legal papers for the upper part of the valley from 1817 (following the survey) to 1827 are now part of the Anderson County legal records.

(Material taken from book by Claudia Hembree called Jocassee).

Revolutionary War Records of John Cobb (Frances Cobb) W20902

11 Mar 1833. Pickens District, SC. John (x) Cobb of said district, aged 74, declares he volunteered under Capt. James Cobb of Col. Greene's regiment of militia in Halifax Co., Va., and marched to Williamsburg and there put under Capt. Rogers of Col. Washington's regiment of infantry. He was marched to Norfolk. Before the Americans arrived the British burned the town and retired their vessels.

He was then marched to Jamestown, to Hampton and to Little York, part of which had been burned before he got there. He then returned to Williamsburg and was discharged, having served about four months. He returned home.

His father was fixing to move to NC and he moved with his father and settled in Lincoln County. Within perhaps less than a fortnight he turned out a volunteer to go after the Tories. He was engaged principally in Lincoln County under Capt. Boyer and Capt. Sumpter as a volunteer. He was not home except for very short periods from the commencement of the Revolutionary War in Virginia. He was with Col. Sumpter in SC for a considerable time after the Tories and engaged in patrolling the country on what were called scouts.

He was on a tour with Col. Sevier against the Cherokee Indians, was at the valley towns and killed several on the route.

At the battle of Guilford he was guarding the baggage.

He was at the siege of Little York when Cornwallis surrendered.

He was born in Halifax Co., Va., and resided there until the commencement of the war. After his first discharge he moved to North Carolina and remained there until after the end of the war. He then moved to Spartan[burg] Co., S.C., where he lived eight or nine years, and then moved into Pendleton County, afterwards District, which was divided and he now lives in Pickens District where he has lived the last 36 years.

20 Aug 1834. Pickens Dist., SC. The Rev. John (x) Cobb makes a similar declaration of his service.

8 Oct 1834. Pickens Dist., SC. The Rev. John (x) Cobb declares he was a volunteer under Capt. James Cobb, Lt. William Hancock, Ens. Richard Wammack and Col. Lacy. They went to Williamsburg and the captain became deranged or incapable of duty and Capt. Rogers took command of the company. They were under Col. Washington and marched to Norfolk and to a place below, he thinks the Green Sea, against the British but they got on their vessels. Before he got to Norfolk the town was burned by the British. As they came to Norfolk they passed Little York and Hampton. He returned to Portsmouth and Jamestown and Williamsburg, here he was discharged for four months service.

In 1780 he was drafted in North Carolina, his father and he having moved to Lincoln, N.C., and turned out under Capt. Luke Boyer, Col. John Sevier and Maj. Joseph Tipton, and marched to Bald Mountain against the Indians. They found a few and killed some and then went to the Valley towns in the Cherokee Nation and burned them and there caught and killed a few of them. The others escaped.

He was stationed on Nolachucka, at the Blue Springs, and was there when he heard of the battle of King's Mountain. Many men were taken from that section to King's Mountain but some were left and he was one of them. He was marched to Col. Sevier's house on Nolachucky and was discharged after having served at least three months.

He returned to Lincoln Co., N.C. The British and Tories were then troublesome and he turned out volunteer under Capt. John Sumpter under Col. Joseph Dickson and was marched to Mecklenburg and then to reinforce Gen. Morgan and overtook him at Cowpens the evening before the battle and was at the battle under Gen. Morgan when Tarleton was defeated.

They pursued the British to the Widow Tarrant's where they had another skirmish. The British retreated and they pursued to Guilford Court House. At the time of the battle he was placed to guard the baggage. They followed to Hillsborough, N.C., to Halifax, N.C.

Perhaps two weeks after he got there Cornwallis marched out. He was present and witnessed the surrender, after which he was discharged. He served not less than four months and was in actual service eleven months in all.

29 Aug 1834. Pickens Dist., SC. Elizabeth (x) Watkins declares John Cobb went into the army. At that time he lived in Virginia. She had three brothers in the service with John Cobb as she has frequently heard them say. She lived in the same house that John Cobb made his home when not in service.

10 Sep 1845. Pickens Dist., SC. Mrs. Frances (x) Cobb of said district, aged 75, unable by bodily infirmity to attend a Court some 15 miles, declares she is widow of John Cobb. She was married in Spartanburg Dist., SC, by Col. Obediah Trimmer, who was then a magistrate, on 27 Aug 1786. Her maiden name was Frances Smith. She was 16 years old 1 May prior to her marriage and has a record of her birth 1 May 1770. Her husband died 21 May 1841.

13 Sept 1845. Pickens Dist., SC. William Abbett declared in his youth he knew John Cobb and Frances Smith. Cobb lived about a mile from him and the father of Frances Smith by three miles from him. Cobb was married to Frances Smith by O. Trimmer in Spartanburg Dist., SC in 1788 or 1789.

13 Sept 1845. Pickens Dist., SC. William Watkins and his wife Elizabeth declare they moved to Spartanburg District some time after they were married and found Cobb and his wife Frances living together in 1788 or 1789. They understood they had been married a short time previous.

11 Oct 1845. Pickens Dist., SC. Matthew Abbett declares he knew John Cobb and Frances Smith, whom Cobb married, in his young days in Spartanburg Dist., S.C. He moved from Spartanburg to Greenville in 1784 and returned again to Spartanburg in 1785 and a short time after his return John Cobb was married to Frances Smith. He was not at the marriage but lived very near. Mrs. Cobb's first son after marriage was born about two weeks previous to the birth of his own son 24 Aug 1790.

19 Sept 1848. Pickens Dist., SC. Mrs. Frances (x) Cobb of said district, aged 78, applies for continuance of pension.

7 July 1854. Rabun Co., Ga. Henry Hicks of said county declares he on tour with the Rev. John Cobb who now lives in Pickens Dist., S.C., on a march from near Jonesborough, N.C. to Gen. Marion's camp below Nelson's Ferry on Santee River. He was a man throw one Stinson [?] while they were camped on Santee River and believes Cobb was the man.

John Cobb of Pickens [Dist.] S.C., private in the regiment of Col. Green in the Virginia militia for eleven months, was placed on the South Carolina pension roll at $36.66 per annum under the Act of 1832. Certificate 27979 was issued 20 Oct 1833.

Frances Cobb, widow of John Cobb, private in the Virginia line, was placed on the South Carolina pension roll at $36.66 per annum. Certificate 7416 under the Acts of 1843 and 1844 was issued 20 Nov 1845 and 2421 under the Act of 1848 was issued 15 Dec 1848.

NATIONAL REGISTER NOMINATIONS

We've finished adding National Register of Historic Places nomination forms, photographs, and short summaries for each county to our website. Visit <http://www.nationalregister.sc.gov/nrlinks.htm> to find a wealth of information about South Carolina's historic buildings, structures, and sites. Just click on a county to find the National Register listings for that county. Thanks to the S.C. Department of Transportation and the S.C. State Library for helping to make this project possible. Our next goal is to finish entering data about National Register properties in Archives and History's On-Line Records Index. This will allow researchers to search for National Register properties in a location (for example, Hartsville), associated with a person (for example, John Wesley), or associated with a topic (for example, Civil War, Greek Revival, African American, or grist mill).

More information about the National Register of Historic Places is available at <http://www.state.sc.us/scdah/natlregs.htm>.

CEMETERY ACCESS BILL SENT TO CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

South Carolina currently does not have a law granting family members and descendants access to graves on private property. This spring both the South Carolina House of Representatives and Senate approved bills requiring owners of cemeteries on private property to provide reasonable access to family members and descendants of those buried in the cemetery. It appears, however, that the House and Senate disagreed over language, and a conference committee was appointed. Members of the conference committee include Representatives Hagood, G.R. Smith, and McLeod and Senators Martin, Campsen, and Williams. More information is available at http://www.scstatehouse.net/cgi-in/web_bh10.exe?bill=65&session=117&summary=T.

Clay Powell is searching for Powell Information. Contact is cpowell974@hotmail.com.

Researchers within my Powell line show a John Powell and another man named Abram Powell in Pickens County, SC in the early 1800's as my direct paternal ancestors, i.e. John being Abram's father. (This Abram is known as Abraham in future records - and occasionally Lovely Abraham Powell - if the researchers are correct in having this as the same man.) This John Powell supposedly married an Anna Rose (both of which moved to Estill Co. KY around 1810-1820). The records in Estill Co. show John living next to and selling property to a Michael Powell (also noted as a son by researchers) and to Abraham. John and Anna had several children according to researchers born in SC or GA in the late 1700's. The Abram Powell above was living in what is now Pendleton Co. (area now in Pickens) in 1820 according to the census. I cannot find him in the 1810 census. My Abraham (b. 1790 in SC or GA) apparently moved or traveled to Jackson Co., GA in April of 1820, he was arrested and sent to jail for three years at Milledgeville Penitentiary. He would have moved to KY by 1825 because he purchased a KY Land Grant in that year in Estill Co. (now in Jackson Co., KY). John and Michael mentioned above were also in Estill Co. by this time.

During the Civil War, the soldier depicted here was shot through both shoulders and then captured by Federal troops at Spotsylvania Courthouse, Virginia, May 12, 1864. ON THE VALUE OF OLD LETTERS

by Charles H. Busha

Old personal letters and documents are valuable sources of genealogical date. We should all preserve them. They provide useful paper trails for future genealogical researchers. Although I've often been described as a pack rat, I still preserve most letters received, as well as copies of some that I write.

Among my prized personal letters is one written by William O. Douglas (1898-1980), a former justice of the United States Supreme Court. In 1977, one of my published books titled AN INTELLECTUAL FREEDOM PRIMER contained the following inscription on its dedication page: "This book is gratefully dedicated to William O. Douglas, Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, 1939-1975, whose wisdom and courage made a lasting contribution to strengthening freedoms expressed in the Bill of Rights of the Constitution of the United States." After I sent a copy of the book to Justice Douglas, I received the letter reproduced below.

Douglas was appointed to the Court in 1939 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who "stacked the court" while six vacancies occurred there between 1936 and 1941. During that period, all four of the conservative justices retired, and two additional liberal justices also left (one died and another retired). William O. Douglas and South Carolina's U. S. Senator James Francis Byrnes (1879-1972), were among Roosevelt's six appointees to the nation's highest tribunal. Without a doubt, the president expected all his appointees to uphold the constitutionality of his sweeping New Deal programs.

Although many of the legal problems with which Justice Douglas had to deal involved complicated financial issues, he became most famous as a champion of civil liberties. While serving as a member of the Court, he also wrote many books on such topics as politics, history, foreign relations and the conservation of natural resources. After he retired in 1975, Douglas maintained chambers in the Supreme Court as an emeritus justice, and he died about two years after the following letter was written.
