Historical Society's Collection Moves to College of Charleston

(Written by Robert Behre of the Post and Courier and published in the Greenville News)

When the Fireproof Building opened in 1827, its construction was considered state of the art – a perfect place to store important government documents. But two centuries have a way of changing things. And that is why the SC Historical Society – a statewide nonprofit archive is moving its collection of approximately two million documents about a mile away.

So recently these documents started being boxed up and won't be available until January 12, 2016 by which time all of them are scheduled to be moved to the College of Charleston's Adlestone Library. An opening ceremony is set for late February.

"When we open the doors in January, this will be a major research library in Southern history, South Carolina history and Atlantic world history," said John White, Dean of Libraries. The library's special collections wing will be renamed to add the SC Historical Society. The Society still will own its collection and will keep both its offices and other artifacts in the Fireproof Building.

Mixed Babies

Source: The Keowee Courier by Colleen, Morse Elliott, p. 184. (Written in 1878)

Some time ago there was a dancing party given in a certain neighborhood in Texas, and most of the ladies present had little babies, whose noisy perversity required too much attention to permit the mothers to enjoy the dance.

A number of gallant young men volunteered to mind the young ones while the parents indulged in an old Virginia breakdown.

No sooner had the women left the babies in charge of the mischievous devils than they stripped the babies, changed their clothes, giving the apparel of one to another.

The dance over, it was time to go home, and the mothers hurriedly took each baby in the dress of her own and started, some to their homes, ten or fifteen miles off, and were far on their way before daylight.

But the day following there was a tremendous row in the settlement. Mothers discovered that a single night had changed the sex of their babies, observation discovered physical phenomena, and then commenced the tallest female pedestrianism.

Living miles apart it took two or three days to unmix the babies and as many months to restore the mothers to their natural sweet dispositions.

To this day it is unsafe for any of the baby mixers to venture in the neighborhood.
