NOTE—Edward Harbin left England and went to Barbadoes, and his son Joseph bought 750 acres of land on the Ashley River near Charleston, S. C., in 1680. Joseph Harbin was a close friend of Governor Gibbs of South Carolina. His sons were Thomas, Richard, Francis and John who were probably the progenitors of the Harbins in North and South Carolina. Thomas Harbin moved to Pendleton District, S. C., about 1790 from North Carolina. He married Mary Witherspoon against the wishes of her family and left North Carolina, and for that reason the records were broken. This gives about all of the available history of the Harbins, and I would be glad to receive any additional information. Preserve this record as it will be of greater interest to succeeding generations.

Rome, Ga., Sept. 1, 1910.

R. M. HARBIN.

Harbin Chart from the collection of Sallie Mae King Harbin (1908-2010). Donated by her daughter Sally Harbin Long to the Faith Clayton Family Research Room at Southern Wesleyan University at Central, South Carolina.

Not Forgotten – Zekiel Thompson Nalley

On Saturday morning October 24, 2015, 19 descendants of Zekiel Thompson Nalley and a large number of the membership of the 16th SC Volunteers Color Guard, Hunley Chapter #2667 UDC, Palmetto Sharpshooters reenactors, SCV camps 36, 71, and 7, and the Pickens County Historical Society, along with friends from the community gathered at Fairview United Methodist Church to dedicate a Confederate Memorial Marker and an iron cross to the memory of Mr. Nalley and in honor of his service to the Confederacy in the 56th Georgia Regiment, Company D. Along with Mr. Thompson Nalley. There were nine family members who served the Confederacy, most in various organizations based in Georgia, but there was one who served with the SC 16th Volunteers, and one who served with the Palmetto Sharpshooters.

Mr. Nalley joined the 56th Georgia Regiment, Company D on May 12, 1862. This company is known to have seen combat at Cumberland Gap in June of 1862. Probably Mr. Nalley was wounded in the action at Cumberland Gap.

He was at his home in Cumming, Georgia on July 25, 1862 when a Union Raiding Party came looking for him. When Mrs. Nalley didn't provide them with information they wanted as to Mr. Nalley's whereabouts, the party set fire to a pile of brush that Mr. Nalley had cleared from his land, and in which he had taken refuge in when he saw the raiding party. There were no remains to be buried. Mrs. Nalley (Mary Pettigrew Smith Nalley) subsequently loaded her children and her livestock in the farm wagon and returned to the live among the Smith and Nalley family members who remained in what is now upper Anderson County in the vicinity of Fairview United Methodist Church, Pickens Chapel, Zion Methodist Church, and Corinth Baptist Church.

Nalley's marker is placed in Fairview United Methodist Church cemetery between the marker of his wife "Mammy" Mary and that of three of his grandchildren who were descended from George Burdine Nalley and Emma Jane Burns Nalley and died in infancy. Two of the female descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Nalley married Newton brothers from the Central/Clemson area. The Newton's were locally famous for their stonework. The markers for "Mammy" Mary Nalley and the grandchildren appear to be some of the Newton signature stonework.

The descendants of Zekiel Thompson Nalley and Mary Pettigrew Smith include George Burdine Nalley who was a founder of the institution which is now known as Southern Wesleyan University, Mr. Tom Nalley who served his state in the House of Representative from 1932 until 1936 and again from 1940 until 1942, and Mr. George Burdine Nalley the founder of Nalley Lumber Company, and numerous other local business people.

Submitted by Nancy Stewart Pace, Great-Great-granddaughter of Mr. Nalley, descended from Lawrence Elford Nalley (eldest son of George Burdine Nalley and Emma Jane Burns Nalley) and Mary Jane Olivia Smith Nalley (daughter of Robert Washington Smith and Ella Jane Freeman Smith) through their daughter Ella Ruth Nalley Stewart.
