About Our Chapter

The Old Pendleton District Chapter of the South Carolina Genealogical Society is a nonprofit, 12-36-2120(40), educational organization designed to unite those interested in the Pickens and Oconee Counties, South Carolina history and family genealogy; to encourage the preservation of documents and records; to promote educational programs; and to publish local records, history and family genealogy. The Chapter's primary goal is to assist others in their search for their ancestors and origins of birthplace.

The Chapter meets every month, except July, August and December. Meetings are held on the third Tuesday of the month from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Central-Clemson Library.

The Chapter's genealogical and historical archives are housed at the Clayton Family History Center, located in the lower level of the Rickman Memorial Library on Southern Wesleyan University campus in Central, SC. This collection contains about 3,500 books and files on family histories, state and county sources, military histories, cemetery records, immigration and passenger lists. For more information send email to claytonroom@swu.edu.

The public is welcome to visit the Clayton Center anytime the Library is open. Normal operating hours are 7:45 a.m. to 11 p.m., Monday through Thursday, 7:45 to 5 p.m. on Friday, 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturday and 6 to 10 p.m. Sunday. Hours vary during summer, for holidays and during breaks in the school year. For more information call 864-644-5074, send email to library@swu.edu, or check their website at <http://www.swu.edu/academics/library/>

President's Message:

Greeting to everyone! I sincerely hope that everyone will be able to attend our outing to the Pickens County Museum on Thursday May 12th. Dan Brennan, the museum curator, will deliver a presentation on Confederate uniforms during the Civil War. This presentation will begin at 6:00pm; however, for those that have not been to the museum, I do suggest coming a little early in order to view the exhibits that cover the early and modern history of Pickens County. Be sure to invite a friend.

April Presentation:

Find A Grave is useful resource to locate graves throughout the United States and the world; however, very little is discussed on the work that goes into uploading information as well as what one should do to resolve an issue, such as duplicate entries and incorrect information. Karyn Garvin enlightened us all with her in-depth presentation on Find A Grave, covering its purpose to the steps one can follow to resolve entry issues.

Find A Grave's purpose is "to find, record and present final disposition information from around the world as a virtual cemetery experience." The website was created by Jim Tipton in 1995 out of his interest in celebrity burials; he later opened the site to the public, and the first non-celebrity burials were those pertaining to the military. In 2012 Tipton sold Find A Grave to Ancestry. At this time Ancestry intends to keep the current price model; however, work is being done to update the website. In particular, Karyn stated that before Ancestry's purchase it took a considerable amount of time to correct issues, now the turn-around time is faster.

Another part of her presentation dealt with how to add entries. She cited that "one should double check to make sure that the grave is not already listed." There are multiple cases in which a grave has been entered, but that the spelling of the name is different or the marker is a cenotaph. What should you do if you find a duplicate entry or incorrect information? For starters you should contact the contributor, and see if he/she responds. However, there are cases in which you will have to contact Find A Grave directly, but only after attempting to contact the contributor and the necessary number of days has passed. To conclude Karyn mentioned what we can do to contribute this wonderful resource. In short, getting out there to help take pictures as well as being willing to enter entries were just a few of her suggestions.

Karyn's presentation was in-depth, but she admits that there is still more to tell about Find A Grave. It is our hope that she will once again be willing to give another presentation. After all this was her first, and has deeply impressed everyone that was in attendance. For more information please visit <http://www.findagrave.com/cgi-bin/fg.cgi?page=listFaq>.

Mary Oates Gregorie Historical Room:

The South Carolina Department of Archives and History has released the 1915 South Carolina birth certificates. This is so new that we have not had a chance to figure out the best way to access the information. Currently one can download an Excel spreadsheet of the index, which has over 50,000 entries. For example, there are 1,062 entries for babies born in Pickens County. For more information please visit <http://e-archives.sc.gov/search-birth-certificates/>.

Minutes of Meeting April 19, 2016

The Meeting of the Old Pendleton District Chapter of the SCGS was called to order at 7:00 PM by President Quientell Walker at the Central-Clemson Branch of the Pickens County Library System, Central, SC.

After welcoming everyone, Quientell called attention to the article in the newsletter announcing the Pryor Award for Volunteerism and Service to the Community and State presented to Anne Sheriff at the recent Conference of Local Historical Societies in Beaufort, South Carolina.

LaMarr Brooks, Treasurer, gave the following financial report:

Expenses:

Postage for Mailing Newsletters April	81.92
State Dues Paid for 15 members	120.00
Total Expenses:		$457.55

Income:

Membership Dues Paid	$271.00
Books/Newsletters	336.75
Total Income		$607.75

Vice President Mildred Brewer reported that the May meeting will be held May 12 at the Pickens County Museum, Pickens, SC at 6:00 PM. Dan Burman, curator of the museum will present our program for the evening. After the meeting we will gather at the Pizza Hut for dinner.

Brenda Meyer, Secretary, had no report. Anne Sheriff, State Representative, reported that the SCGS Summer Workshop will be held July 15-16 at the SC Archives. Some of the speakers that will be presenting at this year's workshop will be: Brent Holcombe, Tim Drake, John Smith and others. She also reminded us that the Greater Clemson Blues Festival is still in full swing with another event on Wednesday, April 20th.

Kayce Shusterman, Publicity Chair, had no report. Newsletter Editor and Social Chair, Barbara Clark, had no report.

Chapter member, Karyn Garvin presented an excellent power point program about the website FIND A GRAVE. She reminded us that the purpose of the FIND A GRAVE program is a "resource for finding the final disposition of family, friends and famous individuals."

Refreshments for the meeting were provided by Katie Gillespie and Nancy Holcombe.

Respectfully submitted by Brenda Meyer, Secretary

SEARCHING FOR INFORMATION

Honeycutt Information Needed.

Mike Honeycutt is searching for information on John Hunnicutt who moved from South Carolina around 1837 to North Carolina. He is searching for a direct descendent of John Wesley Hunnicutt who had a brother John Calvin Hunnicutt. He is willing to pay for a DNA test. (mike@mikehoneycutt.com)

Martha Jane Porter, Wife of Joab William Porter

Lucy Gunthorpe is looking for a female descendant of Martha Jane Porter, wife of Joab William Porter of Anderson County, SC who would be willing to participate in mtDNA testing. Martha Jane was born 13 March 1857 in Pickens County and died 14 June 1937 in Anderson County. She and her husband are buried at Six and Twenty Baptist Church Cemetery. Will provide the mtDNA test kit if you can verify lineage to Martha Jane. If interested, please contact Lucy Gunthorpe at Lucybeth17@aol.com.

Stories from Edwin Parker McCravy in his book Memories published in 1941

Typed by G. Anne Sheriff

Captain Elias Day. Mr. Day gained the title of Captain during the campaign of 1876. He commanded a Red Shirt company. He did his bit in the War Between the States. For many years, he was a progressive farmer. He served as County Commissioner for several terms, and it was my pleasure to have him appointed as County Supervisor of registration, which office he held for many years. He lived to a ripe old age. Mr. Day was jolly as long as he lived. He was the first man to circulate a petition for a bond issue to build hard surface streets for Easley. This within itself is a monument to his memory. He enjoyed pulling jokes on his friends. I remember one morning I was hurrying to town and was stopped by Captain Day who appeared to be perfectly earnest. He warned me particularly to keep my eyes open that day while I was in town. I asked why and he said, "You will look like a fool walking around with them shut." One day he came out very excited and said to his wife, "They are just laying for me. They are just laying for me." She became very much excited and asked, "Who is laying for you?" He replied, "About a hundred and fifty leghorns in the back yard." He pulled jokes like this all the time and even during his last illness he liked a little humor though suffering great agony. (Pages 251-252)

Captain B.C. Johnson. Captain Johnson gave his good right arm to the cause of the Confederacy. I think that he was wounded at Gaines Mill in Virginia. He loved to discuss the war and loved old soldiers. He was one of the first men in the state to advocate a pension for every Confederate soldier or their widows. He gained the title of Captain because he commanded the Jasper Hawthorne Camp of Confederate veterans at Easley, South Carolina. He delighted in wearing the Confederate Grey on all public occasions as long as he lived. I remember on one occasion that I invited him to visit me while I was in the legislature. I presented him to the house. He was dressed in his uniform of the Confederate Grey. He was invited up to the speaker's desk and made a plea to the legislature for better accommodations at the Old Soldier's Home and a pension for every old soldier and widows of the same. He was a successful business man and reared a splendid family. He was buried in the uniform of the Confederate Grey, in a Confederate Grey casket, in the West View Cemetery at Easley. (Page 252)

Honorable Thomas Bailey Nalley. Mr. Nalley is in a class by himself. He has slayed more timber and sawed more lumber than most any man in the whole south. He has been operating saw mills since he was sixteen years old and is still at it. He is one of the most pleasant men that I have ever known. He has unrelenting energy. If he ever gets made, no one knows it, yet he has vexing problems to contend with. He operates a great number of trucks, builds houses and keeps about one hundred men busy all the time. He carries on extensive farming. He is the father of a large family, yet he appears to be young. I have often wondered how he did so much with his limited capital. He is nothing short of a genius or a business wizard. He took a fling at politics, represented Pickens County two terms in the legislature and made as many friends as any one man in the House. He made a splendid record for himself and for his county. He is a shrewd trader and is one of the few men that can cheat you and make you love him at the same time. (Page 254)

Mr. J. A. Roper. Mr. Roper is our financial wizard. He was reared around Six Mile in the western portion of the county. He worked around saw mills and shingle mills as a boy. He adopted as his motto to do his best at whatever his hands found to do. He began to succeed in a business way as a boy and it was not long before he was looked upon as a leader. He still lives at Six Mile, where he has considerable business and farming interests. He has an automobile business in Easley and is President of the Easley Bank and also he was other business interests in Easley. He is comparatively young yet, and has amassed a fortune. He has a large family. Mr. Roper recognized the need of education and attended Six Mile Baptist Academy after he was married and had considerable family. This was while he was cashier of the Bank of Six Mile, a bank that he had organized. He is a liberal contributor and is a member of the Six Mile Baptist Church. He will have four girls at the Woman's College of Furman University in the session of 1938-1940. (Pages 256-257)

Mrs. Miriam Ellison Sheriff. Mrs. Sherriff is a cashier of Easley Bank. She is a young lady of many charms and is one of the most efficient young women in the state. She has been cashier of the bank since it was organized and has done much toward making the success that the bank has enjoyed. (Page 266)

John Calhoun Masters. Masters lived in Table Rock Cove until he sold out to the city of Greenville when they started the big reservoir. I had a unique experience with Calhoun. He was a man of considerable years at the time of this event. I had raided around his place and came back near his home. I did not know that the old man felt at all hostile toward me but I knew he loved his whiskey and his boys often made and sold it. I was on a horse. Calhoun slowly walked down near me and I observed that he was somewhat intoxicated but it never occurred to me that he would hurt anyone. All of a sudden he sprang at me with a knife. The following day on the streets of Pickens someone told me that Calhoun Masters was looking for me. I took it as a joke, thinking that they had heard of the incident the day before. I laughed and went on still not taking it seriously. After a while, I met the old man on the street and he apologized over and over, saying that he had been reminded by his family of his very ugly conduct. He hitched his little old mountain pony to a rickety buggy and, useless to say, the horse was very thin and the buggy even worse. He had driven to Pickens, at least seventeen miles, to find the man that he had wronged. He said that he could not rest until he had the matter straightened out. His apologies, of course, were accepted and we shook hands as friends and were friends ever after. The old man died about two years ago at the age of ninety.

I am told that Calhoun Masters was a gallant soldier in the War Between the States. He was a man of many sterling qualities except for the fact that he drank too much whiskey. After selling his property to the Greenville water works, he had a right nice sum of money and I was told recently that a good many people borrowed his money and did not pay it back and he did not have very much at the time of his death. There are a great many men in the mountains just like Calhoun Masters. If they did you wrong, they would hitch up the little old thin horse to a rickety buggy and drive seventeen or twenty miles to apologize for that wrong. While many of them are rustic and rugged, they are full of sterling character and worth. (Pages 149-150)

A FAMILY TRADITION

Burgess General Store now open in Pickens

PICKENS — The Burgess General Store celebrated its grand opening on Saturday with a ribbon-cutting event featuring Pickens mayor David Owens and store owners Mark and Krystal Burgess.

Mark Burgess' parents, Jack and Juanita, were also on hand for the event, along with a crowd of anxiously awaiting customers.

For many years, the "big box" stores have pulled business away from small shop owners across America. This trend has resulted in countless family-run businesses closing their doors after decades of servicing their communities. Old-fashioned general stores were once where the locals traded everything from stories, eggs and rabbits to nails and fertilizer, and everything in between.

The general store business is a long-standing heritage for the Burgess family. Beginning in 1918, Mark's great-grandfather, John Lawrence Burgess, opened the first "Burgess Store" in the Pumpkin-town area. The original store was first located beside the old home place on Pleasant Grove Road and later moved to the intersection with S.C. Highway 11, where it remains today as "Cendy's Grocery." The original store had a large bell out front that customers would ring to bring John Burgess out of the field, where he was working. After he finished trading with them, he would again return to work in the fields, until the next customer repeated the process. The Pumpkin-town General Store and Cafe was also bought in 1938, and is still owned and operated by the Burgess family. For almost a century, Burgess family members have owned and operated many general stores, restaurants and grocery stores in Pickens and surrounding counties.

Burgess family members have also fought for their country in every war since the Revolutionary War, including recipients with honors such as the Purple Heart and Bronze Star. There is a town in Virginia named for the participant of the Revolutionary War. Other Burgess family members have settled in states all across the country, such as Tennessee, Texas and even a small place in Wyoming called Burgess Junction.

Rocky Nimmons/Courier

The Burgess family has a long history of operating general stores, according to owner Mark Burgess.

Bolding, Garrett, Hunnicutt, Morgan, Collins Cemetery

Anne Sheriff, Sharon Miller and Ansel Miller visited the Bolding, Garrett, Hunnicutt, Morgan, Collins Cemetery near Praters Creek Road on Sunday, April 16, 2016. We met with the owner and relative of the property near the cemetery. After crossing over a fence, a beautiful branch, another fence, up the side of a mountain, we arrived at the cemetery.

We found a small grave: Helen Hunnicutt (7 May 1916) (9 May 1916) and a large marker with the following inscription: In Memory of Jonathan Lee Bolding and Nip Garrett Families.

When the Pickens County Cemetery Book, Volume I was published in 1978, the following other names were found on fieldstones:

Asa Jean (d. 22 Apr 1870)

_____ Morgan (d. 1885)

Both of these markers are gone and are now part of steps to a house. The family decided to clear the property of the stones (rocks) several years ago to make it easier to mow the cemetery.

Agnes Lesley wrote in her book called The Bolding Family that several other people were buried in the cemetery but did not have a marker.
