A COBB Family of Old Pendleton District, South Carolina

By LaMarr Brooks

From: COBB BROTHERS FIVE (used by many of Old Pendleton District Cobb Researchers)

Researched and compiled by Thomas C. Sutton-1982

41858 Briarwood Ave., Hemet, CA 92344

"In search for the antecedents of our known ancestor, Henry Cobb, I have reviewed many books and manuscripts written on the early Cobb families and their descendants. Most of this trace the families of Ambrose and Joseph Cobb of Virginia, but none provides any clue as to our line of Cobbs. After many years of research, I have arrived at only one logical conclusion. Through the sworn testimony of George S. Cobb in 1904 he declared to be the son of Humphrey Wilson Cobb, son of Humphrey Cobb, son of Samuel Cobb of Greenville County, SC. In his testimony, he stated: "The tradition of the family is that five brothers originally came to this country and settled, my recollection is that they first reached the State of Virginia and then came to the State of South Carolina and North Carolina, and two of the original five went west. They came from England."

Mr. Sutton tried to tie the family to known Cobb settlers in Virginia, but was unsuccessful. In a letter to Mrs. Kathy Stevens, dated April 18, 1983, Mr. Sutton makes the following observation, "If these five brothers came to America according to family tradition, I have not been able to locate such record. Sometimes I wonder if they immigrated to North Carolina from Massachusetts, their forebearer having settled there. I have checked out all known connections of the early Virginia Cobbs and cannot make any connection there." For a time, we were at an impasse.

In the summer of 2002, Dr. Neal Cobb, a retired dentist living in Rabun Gap, Georgia, became aware of the possibility of DNA analysis. While considering how to find a suitable donor for the DNA comparisons, it suddenly occurred to him that Hubert Cobb of Gray, Maine, a member of their Cobb research group, might be a likely candidate. He was a descendant of Henry the Elder Cobb of Barnstable, Barnstable County, MASS b. Oct 5, 1606 in England. His birthdate is given in "The Great Migration Begins, 1620-1635" by Robert Charles Anderson. Great Migration Begins: Immigrants to New England, 1620-33 [database on-line]. Provo, UT, USA: The Generations Network, Inc., 2000. Vol. 1-3. Boston, MA, USA: New England Historic Genealogical Society, 1995. IT WAS A MATCH

Henry the Elder Cobb who arrived in Plymouth, Massachusetts in 1632 on "the second boat." from England.

He is buried at Lothrop Hill Cemetery, Barnstable, MASS. The tombstone on the left was erected by Enoch T. Cobb in 1871.

Inscription: Elder Henry Cobb, the Ancestor of the Cobb Family, in Barnstable. Died in 1679.

The tombstone on the right Inscription: Henry Cobb and Patience Hurst, a memorial that spans Cobb generations 1596 to Dec 2004 & provided by Fatis B. Jr & Cathy L. Cobb, Buffalo, WV.

3rd GENERATION OF OUR COBBS IN AMERICA To Old Pendleton District

From John Sutton's writing: "The 1790 Census of Pendleton District, South Carolina, shows as heads of households: Asa Cobb, John Cobb, and Henry Cobb and in Greenville District (across the Saluda River), was Samuel Cobb and his son, Humphry Cobb. This area along the upper Saluda River was Cherokee land until after the Revolutionary War when settlers began to move in. It was then in the Judicial District of Ninety-Six, later attached to Abbeville County where many of the earlier records were kept. Land was not granted to settlers until 1784. Pendleton County was created in 1789 with Court House in Pickensville, which embraced all lands north-west from Abbeville County between the Saluda River and the Savannah/Tugaloo/Chattooga Rivers (State of Georgia boundary) up to the Blue Ridge. In 1791, Washington District was short lived and in 1798 Pendleton and Greenville again became districts, each with a court house. In 1826, Pendleton District was divided into Anderson and Pickens Counties"

Henry Cobb and Jemima Morse were the parents of 7 children, 2 girls and 5 boys. Their first five children were born in Pomfret, Connecticut. Sometime around 1742, they left Pomfret and moved to Orange County (now Caswell), North Carolina. They had two more children in North Carolina. There are many Cobbs living in Caswell County today, almost all are descendants of Henry's son Noah who remained in Caswell County, North Carolina. Henry died about 1755 in Orange County (now Caswell County). The date of the death of Jemima is unknown.

Wilson Cobb represented Greenville in Legislature. He owned property on both sides of the Saluda River but lived in Greenville County. In 1836 he moved to Alabama, entered that state's Legislature. He died in 1842 in a strange "accident" which seems to have been arranged by his opponent for reelection. His opponent, the only witness, swore a limb fell off a tree and hit him on the head.

Registration is Now Open for Roots 2023

11 Oct 2022 9:48 AM Anonymous

The world's largest family history gathering will return in 2023, and registration for the event is now open.

RootsTech is scheduled for March 2–4, 2023, including an in-person event in Salt Lake City, Utah, to complement its extensive online conference. Millions of virtual and in-person attendees are expected to gather for inspiring learning opportunities that will help them connect to their family – past, present and future.

Though 2023 marks the 13th year of RootsTech, it will be the first year since 2019 that the in-person experiences are being offered for the popular global event, which has been completely virtual since 2020 due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.

"The incredible blessing and miracle of the RootsTech virtual experiences is that we were able to confirm that there are so many more people worldwide who are interested in learning more about their family history, stories and connecting," said Jonathan Wing, creative manager for RootsTech.

The theme for RootsTech 2023 is "Uniting."

"RootsTech really is about uniting ... with your family first and foremost, but also to connect with stories and discovery experiences through your family history," said Jen Allen, director of events at FamilySearch. "We connect like-minded people who want to gather and learn similar things, [and] with new knowledge, learning, innovation and services that will help you make new connections to your family history."

In 2022, over 3 million people participated online. Since the beginning, innovation has been a guiding principle for RootsTech. Each year, the event organizers adapt the content to appeal to people worldwide and to stay current. The 2023 event is striving to do the same by bringing the best of the virtual and in-person experiences together.

I think it would be really easy for people to assume we are having two separate events happening at the same time," Wing said. "But we will be connecting what's happening "virtually with what's occurring in person. We're creating ways for virtual attendees to participate with some of the in-person activities."

There will be inspiring keynotes, entertainment and more than 200 new classes at the event. The Expo Hall will also return with over 200 exhibitors, product demonstrations and interactions with research specialists. RootsTech is sponsored by FamilySearch. Register now at RootsTech.org.
